Neither Pitcher Walks or Hits Batter, Getting Perfect Support.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Lynchburg, Va., July 21.—Lynchburg bested Danville today in the most remarkable game of the season, the Danville team being 1 to 0. Sexton and Mayberry were pitched against each other, and neither man walked or hit a batter, and each had perfect fielding. The game was a bad decision in the second took a run or two away from the locals, and in the third Hoffman's double, Howland's sacrifice and Dick Smith's single sent the only run over. The score:

Great Pitchers' Battle.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Charlotte, N. C., July 21.—Brazil's win of the victory over the Greensboro team in the opening game of the series with the locals. It was the greatest pitchers' battle ever seen here, each side getting but one hit. Greenville, however, is credited with another because Jenkins allowed Derick's grounder to second to slap him in the leg. Although Brazil gave eight men bases on balls, he tightened up in the pinches. The Hornets had numerous opportunities to score, but the necessary hit was not there.

SLUGGING MATCH IS WON BY TIGERS

Five Pitchers Are Used in Swat-fest at Petersburg.

GOOBERS ARE GAME
They Rally in Ninth Frame, but Too Late to Save Game.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Petersburg, Va., July 21.—In a slug-fest match, in which Roanoke used five pitchers, the Goober team defeated the visitors by a score of 9 to 7. Cefalu, who started in for Roanoke, only lasted an inning and a half, during which time he was hit for two two-baggers. Pritchard lasted three and a half innings, and was hit for four singles and a two-bagger. Short finished the game and was only hit safely in the last inning.
Hamilton, for the home team, was driven out of the box in the third inning, when he was hit for three singles and a two-bagger. In the fourth, Petersburg started in the first inning, when, with two men out, three singles in succession, followed by a two-bagger by Hannifan, netted three earned runs. Roanoke made two in the second on a single by Holland and two-baggers by Presly and a Newton. Petersburg earned two more runs in her half of the second on a single by Booe, who stole second; a two-base hit by McFarland and a single by Kirkpatrick.
In the third Roanoke tied the score on singles by Powell, Shaugnessy and Holland and a two-bagger by Doyle. Petersburg took the lead on the fourth on Booe's single, a base on balls and Pullman's single. In the sixth Roanoke took the lead on a single by Presly, a fielder's choice, a passed ball and Danfield's two baggers.
In the seventh and ninth innings the champions added two more runs to their score, and although Petersburg made a grand rally in the ninth, earning one run and having a runner on second and third base, Booe ended the game not groundier to Presly.

Some Baseball Talk

By HALF NELSON.

If there is aught in a rabbit's foot or a hunch, the Richmond baseball team is going to make things stir and take notice no later than right now. Jack Verbut started the rabbit's foot yesterday, and the change in the line-up, including the new men who will report, will do the rest. There is an element of luck in everything in the world that has the slightest earmarks of a game, and the change of luck is coming to Richmond. It's got to come because it hasn't been here yet.

Although Brennan didn't do anything yesterday except hold down first without an error, he is a likely looking chap. He is big enough to swat the ball beyond the boundaries, and the hoping is that he will do something with the big stick.

Bunting and Dobson, fresh from the pine woods of Carolina, will be on hand this afternoon, if the dope is correct, and will be in the line-up. Both were rattling good men in the lower league, and it is hoped that they will do something with Richmond. Johnny Gibson, who moved up to second base this afternoon, and Dobson will take over third base. Landgraff and Bigbie will be benched for the time, and if the new ones make a grand showing it is probable that they will warm the bench for some time. Although the writer would personally hate to see either Bigbie or Landgraff, the baseball is a matter of business, and unless the gods can be delivered the player will have to let some other take his place.

Slats Davis didn't cover himself with glory yesterday. In the first place he made a little speech at the beginning of the game that was absolutely unintelligible to the mass of spectators. Then he handed over a pair of raw deals. Landgraff's double bagger looked about as phony as a base hit could look. When he grabbed at the ball Jackson was standing on the third base line and the ball was too far off at that time for him to handle. He was off again on a first base decision that didn't have the slightest semblance of virtue.

Carl Walker, besides being as wild as a mountain goat, and the hoodoo that makes things impossible. The first run that Richmond made was all right, but the two that followed were shames. Munson's throw was a base hit, but it was a base hit that was utterly unnecessary and was of that variety that kills hope. Again in the sixth inning Chandler was fooled as much as Wallace was when Walker threw to first instead of to the plate, and he was caught off the plate several feet. Of course, Wallace scored. Then two hits came across that scored the final run.

Had it not been for his wildness Walker was due to win that game. His speed was great and his curves broke exactly where they were not expected to break. But the wildness was there.

The Richmond management had the outfield grass mowed, and the bounds of the ball were unexpected and baffling. That is why Burke let the hit, that scored the only run for Norfolk, slip through him and go almost to the fence.

In the seventh inning Norfolk had the opportunity of a life time to make a killing. Three hits in succession had killed the bags and there was not a hand out. Then Reggy slammed a drive at Shaw that Shaw gobbled up with one hand and trotted to the third base, where he killed Chandler without the slightest difficulty. With two men out the chance was not so great, and Johnson sent up an easy fly to Cowan which retired the side. But it looked bad at first.
